Procedure
Divide the students into two teams.

Assign each team member with a number.

Call out a student number. The two students with that number run to the board.

Ask the two students if they want to spell or draw.

Once the students have chosen what they want to do, give them a word you want them to review.

The first student to successfully spell or draw the word scores a point for their team.

Then, call out another student number and so on.

The team with the highest number of points at the end of the game wins.
