Introduction

Here is a fun game to play with any level. This game is the opposite of word association.

Procedure

Have the students stand in a circle.

Tell the students that they are going to play a game where they call out words that are unassociated with each other.

Choose a word at random.

The first student says a word that is unassociated with the chosen word.

The second student then says a word that is unassociated with the first student's word and so on.

If a student says a word that is connected with the previous word, takes too long to answer or repeats a word, they are out of the game and sit down.

Anyone can challenge a student if they think there is a connection.

If the connection is agreed, that student is out of the game.

The last student left standing wins.
