

TEACH-THIS.COM

Acting out

You are looking for a place and two phrasal verbs. Mime You are in bed. You wake up and turn off the alarm clock.	You are looking for a place and a phrasal verb. Mime You are checking in at an airport.	You are looking for a place and a phrasal verb. Mime You are standing at a bus stop waiting for a bus.
You are looking for a place and two phrasal verbs. Mime You are at a restaurant. You sit down and look at the menu.	You are looking for a kind of food and a phrasal verb. Mime You blow out the candles on your birthday cake.	You are looking for a place and two phrasal verbs. Mime You are at a petrol station. You fill up your car but then drive off without paying.
This mime is for two people. You are looking for a place and two phrasal verbs. Mime You go into a cafe and see a friend sitting at one of the tables. He/she looks sad. Go over to him/her and try to cheer him/her up.	This mime is for two people. You are looking for a place and two phrasal verbs Mime You are working on the checkout of a supermarket. The bar code scanner breaks down. The customer gets really angry. You try to get him/her to calm down.	You are looking for two objects and two phrasal verbs Mime You are on a park bench. The weather changes and it gets very cold, and then it starts to rain. Do up your coat and put up your umbrella.
You are looking for an object and two phrasal verbs. Mime You are reading a newspaper when you see a picture of your favourite film star. Cut the picture out and put it up on your wall.	This is a mime for two people. You are looking for a place and one phrasal verb Mime You are in a clothes shop and you bump into an old friend.	This is a mime for two people. You are looking for a place and two phrasal verbs. Mime You are at a train station, seeing your friend off. You chat for a while then the train pulls out of the station and you wave.

TEACH-THIS.COM

Acting out

In this fun miming game, students review some commonly used phrasal verbs.

Before class, make one copy of the cards.

Procedure

Divide the class into two teams (A and B).

Ask a player from Team A to come to the front of the class, pick a card and mime the situation.

Before the players begin their mimes, they must read out the first sentence on the card, which tells the teams what information they are looking for.

Students from both teams then try to guess what is being mimed.

The first student to guess correctly scores a point for their team.

A player from Team B then comes up, picks a card and does a mime, and so on.

The game continues until all of the cards have been used.

Note: Some of the mimes are for two people. When two people are needed, it is indicated on the card.