Introduction

In this interactive possessives breakout room activity, students correct sentences by changing subject pronouns to possessive adjectives and object pronouns to possessive pronouns.

Procedure

Divide the students into pairs (A and B) and put them in breakout rooms.

Send each student a corresponding A or B worksheet.

Explain that the words in bold in the sentences are wrong. The subject pronouns should be possessive adjectives and the object pronouns should be possessive pronouns.

Draw the students' attention to the first sentence which is shown as an example.

Students then take it in turns to read a sentence to their partner.

Their partner listens to the sentence and repeats it back to their classmate, correcting the sentence by changing the subject pronoun to a possessive adjective or the object pronoun to a possessive pronoun.

The student then writes their partner's answer in the space provided.

Students should not help each other. Only write down their partner's answers. To make it more difficult, no answers are shown on the worksheet.

When the students have finished, they check their answers with you.
