Introduction

In this engaging group activity, students play a game of dominoes to practice 'will' for spontaneous decisions and offers. In the activity, students match statements and questions to spontaneous decisions and offers with 'will' and vice-versa.

Procedure

Divide the students into groups of three.

Give each group a set of dominoes. Tell the students to shuffle the dominoes and deal out six each, leaving the rest in a pile face down.

Groups of four are also possible with each player having four dominoes each.

Tell the students to turn over the top card from the pile and place it face up on the table.

The first player puts a domino down either before or after the domino on the table, making sure the statement or question matches with an appropriate decision or offer.

Play then passes to the next student and so on.

If a player cannot put down one of their dominoes, they take a domino from the top of the pile and put it down if they can.

If there are no dominoes left in the pile, play passes to the next student.

The first player to get rid of all their dominoes wins the game.

The other players should continue to put down their dominoes, as when all the dominoes have been matched they form a loop. If a loop is not formed, then the students haven't matched the dominoes correctly and they should look for the mistake.

The correct answers can be seen on the uncut worksheet.

I'll turn it up.	I have a headache.	I'll get you some aspirin.	Would you like tea or coffee?
I'll have coffee, please.	It's hot in here.	I'll turn on the air conditioner.	The phones ringing.
I'll answer it.	Are you leaving now?	No, I'll leave in five minutes.	Here's my phone number.
Great. I'll call you this evening.	What do you want to eat?	I'll have a sandwich.	These boxes are really heavy.
I'll help you carry them.	I'm thirsty.	I'll get you a glass of water.	I don't understand my English homework.
Don't worry. I'll help you with it.	It's really cold in here.	I'll turn the heater on.	I need to be at the airport in an hour.
Don't worry. I'll drive you there.	There's someone at the door.	I'll go and see who it is.	I don't feel very well.
I'll take you to see the doctor.	I left my book at your house.	Don't worry. I'll bring it to class tomorrow.	I'm hungry.
I'll make you something to eat.	It's dark in here.	I'll turn on the light.	Have a good holiday.
Thanks. I'll send you a postcard.	Is Tom there?	I don't know. I'll find out for you.	I forgot to invite Sofia to the party.
I'll call her now. What's her phone number?	Let's go to the cinema this afternoon.	Good idea. I'll meet you there at 3 o'clock.	The floor is very dirty.
I'll clean it.	We don't have any food in the fridge.	I'll go to the supermarket.	I can't hear the radio.
