Introduction

In this present continuous game, students describe present continuous sentences for others to guess, without saying the sentence or using certain words.

Procedure

Divide the class into two teams (A and B).

Tell the class that they are going to describe present continuous sentences in a game of taboo.

Explain that the aim of the game is for a student to get their teammates to say a present continuous sentence on a card, without saying the sentence or using the three words on the card.

A student from Team A comes to the front of the class and is given a taboo card.

The student then describes the present continuous sentence to their team, without saying the sentence or using the three words.

The student is also not allowed to use any variations of the words on the card, e.g. dancing, dance, dancer, etc.

If Team A successfully guesses the sentence within two minutes, they score a point.

If they are unsuccessful, Team B has one chance to guess the sentence and steal the point.

A student from Team B then comes to the front, and so on.

The team with the most points at the end of the game wins.

This game can also be played in small teams.
