Introduction
In this lively teaching activity, students describe present continuous sentences in a game of taboo.

Procedure
Divide the class into two teams (A and B).

Tell the class that they are going to describe present continuous sentences in a game of taboo.

Explain that the aim of the game is for a player to get his or her teammates to say a present continuous sentence on a card, but the player cannot say the sentence or use the three words on the card.

A player from Team A comes to the front of the class and is given a taboo card.

The player then tries to describe the present continuous sentence to his or her team, without saying the sentence or using the three words on the card.

The player is also not allowed to use any variations of the words on the card, e.g. dancing, dance, dancer, etc.

If Team A successfully guesses the sentence within two minutes, they win a point. If they are unsuccessful, Team B has one chance to guess the sentence and steal the point.

Then, a player from Team B comes to the front and is given a card and so on.

Teams continue taking it in turns to play until all the cards have been used.

The team with the most points at the end of the game wins.

This game can also be played in small teams.
