Introduction

In this fun winter activities board game, students perform winter-related mimes for a teammate to guess.

Procedure

Divide the students into competing pairs (Two teams of two).

Give each group of four a copy of the game board, a set of cards, a dice and two counters. Each group will also need a stopwatch.

Ask the students to shuffle the cards and place them face-down in a pile on the table.

Tell the students that they are going to play a board game where they race another team along the board in order to reach home first and get out of the cold.

Explain that as the students move along the board they have to mime winter activities for their partner to guess in order to progress through the game.

Students then take it in turns to pick up a card from the top of the pile, without showing it to their partner.

The student with the card then mimes the winter activity on the card to their teammate.

Their teammate has one minute to guess what winter activity their partner is doing by making an appropriate present continuous sentence, e.g. 'You are riding on a sled'.

During this time, the other team times them. If the student is able to guess the winter activity and make the correct sentence, the team rolls the dice and moves their counter along the board.

If not, they stay on the same square and don't roll the dice.

The card is then placed at the bottom of the pile and it's the other teams turn to play.

Team members should take it in turns to mime each time and the person performing the mime is not allowed to speak.

The first team to reach the finish is the winner.
