Introduction

Here is a fun guessing game to help students practice using defining relative clauses with who, which and where.

Procedure

Divide the class into groups of three or four.

Give each group a set of cards.

Tell the students to shuffle the cards and place them face down in a pile on the desk.

Demonstrate the activity by picking up a card (e.g. library) and telling the students to listen to your definition and guess the word.

Define the word using a relative clause, e.g. 'It's a place where people read books'.

When a student guesses the word correctly, give them the card.

Explain that the students are going to play the same game in their groups.

The students then take it in turns to pick up a card and give a definition of the word on the card using a relative clause.

Examples:

It's a thing which...

It's a person who...

It's a place where...

Students cannot use the word on the card or variations of the word in their definitions.

The first student to guess the word keeps the card.

The student with the most cards at the end of the game wins.
