

Activity Type

Reading and writing activity

Language Focus

Phrases for expressing likes, dislikes and interests

Aim

To complete a description about your likes, dislikes and interests and then to guess who wrote other descriptions.

Preparation

Make one copy of the worksheet for each student. Also, make one copy of the number cards and cut as indicated.

Level

Low intermediate

Time

40 minutes

Introduction

In this fun worksheet activity, students complete descriptions about their likes, dislikes and interests and then guess who wrote other descriptions.

Procedure

Give each student a copy of the worksheet.

Tell the students not to show their worksheet to anyone.

Ask the students to complete the sentences on the worksheet, describing their likes, dislikes and interests.

When the students have finished, give each student a number card and ask them to write their number at the top of the worksheet without showing the card or number to anyone.

Then, collect the worksheets, shuffle them and stick them up around the classroom.

Next, divide the students into pairs and give each pair a piece of paper.

Write the names of all the students on the board and have the students copy the names onto their paper.

The pairs then walk around the classroom reading the numbered descriptions and deciding which student wrote each one.

Students write the numbers next to the names on their paper.

Afterwards, students take it in turns to read out a description to the class.

After a description has been read out, have the pairs say who they think wrote it.

Then, the student who actually wrote it reveals the answer.

Pairs score one point for each correct guess.

The pair with the most correct guesses wins.
